Bus Crash Claims 15

This is the wreckage of an Indianapolis-to-Evansville, Ind., bus, which hit a bridge abutment five miles north of Bloomington, Ind., bursting into flames. Fifteen persons were trapped inside the blazing bus and perished. The other passengers were hauled out windows and escaped. The driver, Wayne Crammer, 25, of Indianapolis, said he lost control and blamed either a faulty steering gear or a blowout. (NEA Telephoto)

City Insists Upon Taking All Records For High in State

Second 104 Day in Row Also Brings Night 'Top Low' of 74 Degrees

Our small corner of this August over held its own again yesterday bringing another 104 degrees and topping all cities in the Associated Press report.

Today's overnight low of 74 degrees is a record and another warm start in this record-breaking torrid wave which produced 30 days of 90 and above temperatures this month and 48 since the mercury first reached 90 in June.

Yesterday the mercury remained 90 and above for nine and a half hours and was 95 or above for seven and a half hours.

Today's temperature of 90 at 10:45 a.m. equaled that of yesterday at the same time, but the city engineer's thermometer did not record the 104 until 4:30 p.m. while on the previous day it had reached that temperature by 9:30 p.m.

The 104 for yesterday and Tuesday were both maximum temperatures for August according to records of the city engineer's office and both were the warmest days of this torrid summer although not as humid as those of July.

The highest other city in the immediate eastern area mentioned in the Associated Press report was Newark, N. J., where the mercury hit 102 degrees yesterday. The high for New York city was 93.7 degrees, and a record for that city.

Attempt Is Failure

Inverness, N. S., Aug. 11 (P)—A desperate attempt by a 25-man human chain to save four persons from drowning in a treacherous undertow failed last night. Two of the rescue party are missing. The human chain was formed of townsfolk and police summoned to the shore of this western Cape Breton mining town by the shrieking disaster signal of a colliery. The chain, organized by five police constables, came within a few feet of reaching the struggling swimmers, and there was just apart by the pounding breakers.

Dissolution Announced

Marc F. Fountain today announced the dissolution of partnerships of himself and Donald F. Griffin as operators of the Griffin Paper Co., 96 Furnace street. The change was effective as of August 6, and the wholesale paper business will now be conducted by Griffin, his former partner said.

Accuse Democrats

Washington, Aug. 11 (P)—Senator Taft (R-OH) accused the Democrats today of trying to bypass him in a proposed new investigation of labor-management relations. Taft told a reporter he thinks there is a definite move afoot among Democratic members on the labor committee to leave him and other supporters of the Taft-Hartley Act out of a proposed new inquiry group. "If they try it—and they have given every sign they will—I'm going to fight it in the Senate," the Ohioan said.

Upholds U. S. Right

Washington, Aug. 11 (P)—The U. S. Court of Appeals today upheld the government's right to label certain groups as "subversive." The 2-to-1 decision was handed down in the case of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee which had appealed to the courts after it was included on Attorney General Clark's "subversive list" two years ago. The appeal court affirmed the U. S. District Court here in dismissing the refugee committee's suit on a motion by the government.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Aug. 11 (P)—The position of the Treasury Aug. 9: Net budget receipts, $162,621,416.80; budget expenditures, $175,327,770.55; cash balance, $3,648,952,157.93; customs receipts for month, $9,070,832.90; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $2,621,350,268.89; budget expenditures fiscal year, $4,497,550,690.17; budget deficit, $1,666,190,401.28; total debt, $254,368,763,005.27; increase over previous day, $15,041,904.80; gold assets, $24,368,790,926.15.

Two More Cases of Polio Are Reported; City Has 1

16 Acres Are Lost In Mt. Marion Ridge Forest Fire

Total Reported in Area Is 20; National Toll Increases by 3,000

Two new cases of polio, one of the first in this city, were reported by the county health department today, bringing the total, including two brought here from Sullivan county, to 20 cases to date.

Aaron Van De Bogart, forest ranger of Wittenberg, said that while the fire again is under control, it is still smoldering in the ground and in tree stumps. It will probably be necessary to station men to keep a continuous watch on the area until the situation is relieved by rain, the ranger said.

Fire fighters in the area were handicapped by the lack of water, and when the fire was brought under control Monday afternoon broke out anew Wednesday and spread over about three or four additional acres against the Mount Marion ridge east of Fish Creek.

The city case is a three-year-old girl and the other is a 16-year-old boy in Rosendale. The 17th case, a six-year-old girl in the town of Rochester, was reported Tuesday and the 18th, yesterday, was a six-year-old boy brought from Sullivan county for hospitalization and later sent to New York.

The health department reported, meanwhile, that Mrs. Walter Brown of the Red Cross nurses' recruiting committee, received "several responses" to the department's request for nurses and that those who have been steadily on duty, now have relief.

Because of the increase in number of cases, there is still a demand for nurses, the department said, and those ready to assist in caring for polio cases are asked to contact Mrs. Brown by telephoning 2827.

The two sisters and their cousin now at Kingston Hospital were reported "improving" today, and the Kingston case, also at the hospital, was said to be "apparently good."

(By The Associated Press)
National Toll Rises

More than 3,000 new polio cases this month have boosted the nation's total for this year over 11,000.

An Associated Press survey through August 9 showed that the number of cases in 1949 was running roughly 4,000 ahead of that for the same date in 1948.

Last year, with a total of 27,680 cases reported, was the second highest on record for polio incidence. The worst year was 1916 when more than 30,000 cases were counted.

Judged solely by case figures,

Hoover Warns Spending Policies May Rob Posterity of Future; 'Way to Collectivism'

Palo Alto, Calif., Aug. 11 (P)—This nation today had the sober warning of its only living former president that its spending policies, if unchecked, will rob posterity of its inheritance.

Former President Herbert Hoover, in a significant address, asserted last night that the United States "is blissfully delving down the back road to collectivism at top speed."

"We have not had a great socialization of property," he said, "but we are on the last mile to collectivism through governmental collection and spending of the savings of the people."

The country's president from 1929 to 1933 spoke before an estimated 10,000 persons in the beautiful grass carpeted Lawrence Frost Memorial Bowl on the Stanford University campus, virtually in the shadow of the Hoover Institute on War, Revolution and Peace, founded in 1935.

The occasion was his 75th birthday celebration sponsored by the university in tribute to its most famous son, a graduate of its first class in 1895.

President Truman's message of congratulations and good wishes was among the thousands which came from all over the world.

In his talk, broadcast by the four major networks, he said: "My word to you, my fellow citizens, on this seventy-fifth birthday is this: The founding fathers dedicated the structure of our government to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity. We of this generation inherited this precious blessing. Yet as spendthrifts we are on our way to rob posterity of its inheritance."

The American people have solved many great crises in national life. The qualities of self-restraint, of integrity, of conscience and courage still live in our people. It is not too late to summon these qualities."

Hoover said: "Mr. Average Working Citizen" now must work 61 days a year to support local, state and federal government.

Proposed additional government spending would take another 20 days, he said.

He estimated the cost of all government to the average family, exclusive of federal debt service, had jumped from $200 to $1,300 a year in the last 20 years, and that this might go to $1,900 with debt service and new proposed expenditures. About one person in seven now is a regular recipient of government monies, he asserted.

He placed much of the blame for heavy government spending on the people themselves, as represented by "the multitude of great pressure groups."

He urged thinking and debate in the schools and in every corner grocery on the problems of government.

"We dare not see the birthright of posterity to individual independence, initiative and freedom of choice battered for a mass of collectivist system," he declared.

In the audience were several of Mr. Hoover's closest friends and associates, including Raymond S. Richmond of Jackson Heights, New York, of the Gannett newspapers and an associate of Hoover in his relief work in Finland and Poland.

U.S. Faces Bad Foe in Russia, Harriman Says; Asks Arms

Nationalists Say 240,000 Reds Revolt in Provinces

Misrule Is Given as Reason by General Teng, Spokesman

Canton, Aug. 11 (P)—A Nationalist army spokesman said today an uprising involving around 240,000 men had developed in the Red controlled provinces of Honan, Hupeh and Anhwei.

Gen. Tong Wen-yi, the spokesman, said Communists misrule in the recently conquered provinces caused the revolt. Other reasons for the uprisings were ruthless conscription of men and excessive requisitioning of food, he said.

Teng said the rebels possessed about 100,000 rifles. In one Hupeh mountain area alone the rebels control 15 districts, the general said.

They are aiding the Nationalists cause by disrupting Red transport and communication lines, Teng said.

Teng scoffed at estimates the Reds would take Canton in between three to six weeks.

(Today's Chinese edition of the Hong Kong Standard, published by Tiger King Lin, Av. Boon-Lin, was banned from Canton for publishing an Associated Press story quoting this estimate.)

"The Communists could be here in less than three weeks if they take airplanes," Teng said.

He said floods, epidemics and Nationalist resistance slowed down the Communist advance in Central China. Teng said in each Red company of 200 men as a result of illness only about 80 able bodied were left.

The spokesman gave this picture of the over-all war situation:

Kansu Province—the Reds, thrusting along the Sian-Lanchow highway took Tung-hwa, 95 miles from Lanchow. In the general fighting in Kansu the Communists have suffered 22,000 casualties as compared with 7,000 government troops killed or disabled.

(Chinese casualty figures are often exaggerated.)

Shensi Province—Nationalists at Ankang in the southeastern corner of the province forced the attacking Reds to retreat southward. The commander of the 55th Red Division was killed in action.

Fukien Province—No fighting in the past week, apart from mop-up of scattered Red guerrillas in the southern and western parts of the province.

The Reds were building highways and making other preparations to attack coastal Foochow, provincial capital. The Nationalists are building strong defense lines on Foochow's outer perimeter.

Kiangsi Province—The Communists are still more than 37 miles from Kanshsien, Red attacks

Hawaii Seizes All Stevedoring Firms; Orders Are Signed

Bridges Says Action Doom to Failure; Strike Has Gone on 103 Days

Honolulu, Aug. 11 (P)—Hawaii extended government seizure to all seven of the islands' struck stevedoring companies today.

CIO Longshore Leader Harry Bridges said the territory's effort to reopen its strike-plugged ports will fail.

Gov. Ingram M. Steinback signed orders late yesterday to bring five firms in the outer islands under territorial control. He had done the same Tuesday for Honolulu's two companies. Actual takeover of all seven was expected to be completed today.

Striking stevedores of the CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union announced mainland support in their avowed attempt to defy government dock operation.

Bridges, president of the I.L.W.U., told a meeting of high territorial officials: "I'm here to tell you the territory is not going to break this strike." It has gone on for 103 days.

Both the government and the union prepared for the showdown. Steinback warned: "Any interference with the territory's dock operation will be dealt with swiftly with all the force of the government."

The dock seizure law, passed by a special session of the Hawaiian Legislature, prohibits any "concerned activity" interfering with government operation. Penalties are $500 fines and three months in jail.

In a special appearance before the Legislature yesterday, the governor asked it to determine if the law needs more strength. Pointedly, he mentioned "criminally."

On the other side, the I.L.W.U. asked all maritime union offices in Honolulu to support the strike in the same manner as the C.I.O. Marine Engineers. The engineers' executive board in Washington ordered members not to work any day picketed by the I.L.W.U.

Bridges and other I.L.W.U. leaders have said the I.L.W.U. will not work for the government. They plan a court test of the seizure law's constitutionality. They have threatened to spread the strike to the mainland if necessary.

C.I.O. and independent maritime unions in Philadelphia already have voted not to unload ships loaded in Hawaii behind I.L.W.U. picket lines. The I.L.W.U. freighter Steel Flyer, loaded by non-union longshoremen, is enroute there with the first cargo of sugar to leave since the strike began May 1.

Meanwhile, the government continued to sign up stevedores for its dock operation. More than 3,000 applicants lined up before

Freedom Train Film To Be at Local Theatre

Manager Robert A. Case of Reade's Kingston Theatres, announced today that on August 14, 15, and 16 the ten-minute movie dramatizing the New York State Freedom Train and its priceless documents would be shown at the Broadway Theatre.

The Freedom Train will be in Kingston on August 16 and 17 and will be located off Greenhill avenue. The hours on both days will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The drama of New York freedom—is its growth, its flexibility to meet ever-changing social conditions has been caught by Warner-Pathe in their script for this documentary film.

Farmers who estimate it costs them almost $1 to pick and transport a bag of 50 ears are being offered between 25 and 50 cents for the same bag, it was reported.

"If we put off action on the proposed assistance today, or reduce it materially, doubt might well arise again; the subversive elements, the appeasers and those who would rely on neutrality would attempt to undermine the present determination and confidence."

Harriman said there must be no delay in sending American arms and military equipment to the North Atlantic Pact nations. He added:

"If we put off action on the proposed assistance today, or reduce it materially, doubt might well arise again; the subversive elements, the appeasers and those who would rely on neutrality would attempt to undermine the present determination and confidence."

Backers of the arms program have been cheered by:

1. Word that Senator Taft (R-Ohio) won't lead a fight against

2. Strong support from the military chiefs.

Taft, chairman of the G.O.P. policy committee, told a reporter he probably will vote against the plan of arming friendly nations. But he added he will not spearhead

Danbury Men Arrested, Discharged by Court

Two Danbury, Conn., men who allegedly became abusive when they were refused a ride on Broadway near East Chester street early this morning, were arrested on disorderly conduct charges.

The report at 1:20 a.m. said that the two, Harold, 28, and William Haddon, 27, were arrested by John J. Lawrence of this city, and were brought to headquarters by Officers William Hanley, and Clarence Blocker.

The charges were dismissed for lack of prosecution when they appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

The information said the hitch-hikers used vile and obscene language before Lawrence and two other persons after the former had refused to give them a ride.

Actress Is in Hospital

in Queen of Angels Hospital after earlier fears that she might lose a baby she is carrying. The movie star fainted yesterday on a moving set and was carried to her dressing room by co-star Clark Gable.

Tom Lewis, her advertising executive husband, said Miss Young had been in pain late last night and early this morning but that doctors hoped to save the baby. He said that she is in her third month of pregnancy. Earlier, Dr. Walter Halloran said the 36-year-old actress must remain in the hospital at least a week for observation. The couple have three children.

Passes Flunked Students
Bangkok (UPI)—A government decree gave passing grades to 29 students who flunked university entrance examinations. Within a few days the Ministry of Education was deluged with requests from parents that their children who flunked other tests be given passing marks. Top education officials sought to resign in shame over the Thailand cabinet's action, but were persuaded to hang on only because their terms were expiring shortly anyway. The education squabble began when the son of a member of parliament got 49.6 on an examination. The passing grade was lowered from 50 to include all who scored 49.5 or better.

POLIO-COPTER—Last year there wasn't a single case of polio in Springville, N. Y. This year there were six. To prevent any more, the town of 3000 hired a helicopter to cover its swamps, stagnant pools, backyards and river with an aerosol fog containing DDT. The fog, forced into mosquito-breeding places by the powerful downdraft of the copter's main rotor, killed off the town's mosquito and fly population, and, residents hope, any further polio.

Soybeans planted on the contour average about two bushels more per acre than when planted up and down the slope.

Schuberg Speaks At V.F.W. Session

Louis T. Schuberg, a native of Kingston who left the city with Company M when that outfit left in 1916 to mobilize for the Mexican War, was a guest speaker at the regular meeting of Joyce-Schirick Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars Tuesday night.

Schuberg, who is now employed as a civilian at Margarita, the Atlantic Ocean approach to the Panama Canal, arrived in this country July 27 for a vacation. He and Mrs. Schuberg are due back to the Panama Canal Zone post by October 1.

The former resident spoke on community activities of the V.F.W. at Tuesday's meeting and interspersed during the talk his meaning of the letters V.F.W.

"To me," Schuberg said, "V.F.W. means vision, faith and work. All three mean just that to the veterans of World War 2 who are rendering great service to the public."

Mrs. Schuberg is a member of the local V.F.W. Auxiliary.

During World War 1 Schuberg was at Camp Wadsworth in South Carolina with the A.E.F. He was member of G-2 (intelligence) with the Second Army Corps and the Panama Canal Department during World War 2.

He entered the army November 13, 1915.

MEDINA SHOWED DISCRETION

The "field day" is over for the attorneys defending the 11 Communist leaders on trial in New York. Federal Judge Harold R. Medina, who has been a model of patience through seven months of deliberate provocation and planned confusion, suddenly has switched tactics and is applying stern measures against the Communists' lawyers.

One of their most exasperating maneuvers has been to keep up an almost endless flow of frenzied argument, in defiance of general courtroom procedure and specific warnings from Medina. He has now told them they will no longer be allowed to indulge in long speeches every time they rise to object. He will ask a U. S. marshal to force them to sit down if necessary.

He has informed them their constant violation of many rules was willfully and deliberately done and "contemptuous." This was a further sign that when the trial is over the Communists' lawyers will certainly face serious contempt charges and possibly worse.

Medina likewise has directed the attorneys to stop trying to refute the charges against the defendants—conspiracy to teach overthrow of the government by force and violence — by making counter-charges against others.

"We've heard enough about force and violence by others," the judge said. "I want to hear what these defendants did or said on that score."

Many observers probably would say "it's about time."

Many of them undoubtedly felt Medina should have meted out severe punishment quickly and thus halted the lawyers' irresponsible courtroom behavior at the start.

We think, however, that the judge acted with eminent good sense and high judicial purpose in giving the defendants and their lawyers wide latitude. He has thereby denied them any real chance of accusing him of prejudice and has averted the danger of a mistrial.

He has left the way open for the defense to compile a record of courtroom disobedience seldom if ever matched in judicial annals. That record will stand against the defendants should they try to appeal in the event of conviction. Furthermore, it can now be used by Medina as good warrant for stern discipline which, if applied earlier, might have made him vulnerable to criticism.

It is really amazing that the Communists seem to believe their tactics have any value. They must imagine they are doing a superb job of discrediting American justice and at the same time spreading propaganda all-over the map.

Actually about all they have accomplished by their disreputable courtroom tactics is to make Medina look like a very able jurist with a great talent for dealing with legal hooliganism.

ENGLISH TEACHING

A teacher of German in an Ohio college, having observed that many of his students had insufficient background of English grammar with which to begin the study of a foreign language, gave out questionnaires requesting the students' opinion of their high school instruction in English.

The resulting replies showed that the students felt a definite lack in their English courses. An English test previously given to sophomores in the same college had resulted in a large percentage of failures. Pupils starting the study of other languages were found to have little or no knowledge of sentence structure, parts of speech or the rules of composition.

Many experienced teachers favor a return to the pre-progressive method of beginning language drill in the fifth and sixth grades. Children taught by this method had good foundation for further grammar instruction in high school, and could better devote their time to literature and forms of composition. There seems to be general agreement among those in a position to observe the modern

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

PLAN FOR PROSPERITY

In these days, when the western world is dependent upon the prosperity of the United States, active minds naturally turn to problems of keeping this country prosperous. Most of the New Dealers are really pessimists about this country and about the era in which they live. They either turn to the improvisations of socialism or to varieties of imitations of Communism.

Lewis S. Rosenthal, chairman of Schenley Industries, Inc., has approached this problem with the optimism of one who has been successful in his own enterprises. Perhaps the essential difference between a businessman and the bureaucratic New Dealer is that the latter has never done for himself that which he sets out to do for the country, whereas the businessman has, in the face of difficulties, stormed the impediments of two decades and come through stronger for the experience.

Rosenthal's "Plan for Sustained Prosperity," appeared in the "U. S. News," which is edited by David Lawrence. It is an astonishingly balanced program which requires discussion, debate and certainly consideration, as it offers a method for maintaining prosperity without resorting to socialistic devices. The essence of it is the attainment of a national income of $300,000,000,000, in hard money, by 1954, without increasing our dependences upon government.

Certain facts of life have to be recognized even by those who totally disagree with the socialism of the New Deal. One of them that stares us harshly is that the American people will never accept a program which does not assure them that in bad times the common wealth of the nation will be used to alleviate the misfortunes of millions of people. Whether it is right or wrong, the votes of the people on election day have determined and will continue to insist that the burden of Depression must fall in the government (which means economically the whole people) and not upon a residual 10,000,000 men and women.

Therefore, the approach to our economic problems must be to eliminate depressions. For we can see from the experience since 1933 that the next major depression in the United States will lead to a sufficient nationalization of the means of production as to imperil our way of life, not only economically, but politically and socially.

Those who continue to believe in private enterprise dare not permit the "programming" of the battle against depression to fall to the bureaucrats, labor leaders and politicians, who force upon us astonishingly wild improvisations which are tried to our detriment. The businessman needs hard-headed to face the conditions of our life and to think out what can be done. This, Lewis Rosenthal has tried to do, and while many may not accept his plan, none can say that it is not worth analysis and study.

For instance, our economy is deeply involved in our foreign relations which will cost us to more than $20,000,000,000 this year, directly and indirectly. Rosenthal meets this problem with unusual realism.

We cannot get out of our financial or political commitments. But he demands that we should insist upon fulfillment of commitments to reduce trade restrictions, to open up the channels of trade on a nondiscriminatory basis, to move toward balanced budgets, as well as to restore convertibility of currencies. All trade agreements should be renegotiated following any adjustment of exchange rates. An agreement which was fair when negotiated may be made discriminatory by a change of the exchange rates.

The greatest care should be exercised by our government to prevent foreign government trading monopolies—the super-duper cartels of the present world—from dumping goods on world markets, thereby circumventing the basic principle of trade agreements.

He further makes the point that those whom we aid . . . must follow the same course we take.

Expanding production, increasing wages and providing incentives for investment. Wages in other countries must rise relatively to ours so as gradually to close the gap between us. It is the obligation of our government in negotiating with other nations to include conditions which would raise wages and standards of living in those nations as part and parcel of the agreement.

I shall refer to the Rosenthal plan again. The object of today's article is to stimulate discussion of it.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

RHEUMATIC DISEASES

It has often been said that the most comfortable specialty in medicine, from the physician's point of view, is skin diseases; the patient never gets better, never dies, and does not call his physician at night. From this standpoint it might be said that rheumatism could be considered the next most "comfortable" specialty in medicine because it is the oldest disease known to man, patients do not usually die directly from it, and it often remains with the patient for life.

However, although rheumatism stands low as a direct cause of death, it stands first on the list of diseases that cripple men and women and make life miserable, physically, mentally and financially.

We learn from a physician who knows health and welfare, something of the effects of rheumatism on the people of the United States and Canada. In the "Canadian Medical Association Journal," Dr. R. G. Ratz, Chief, Civil Service Health Division, Department of Health and Welfare, Canada, we learn the following facts: Rheumatism leads the list of specified chronic diseases and the disability from it exceeds that of tuberculosis by a ratio of 10 to 7, against that from diabetes by nearly 10 to 1, and that from cancer and tumor by 7 to 1.

A survey of 25,000 households across Canada including 60,000 to 70,000 persons over 14 years of age, shows that, of an estimated seven million days lost on account of illness during the month of November, 1947, almost 1 in 4 was caused by arthritis or rheumatism. Of this number 1 in 4 thus suffering in Canada had never had any medical care or advice.

One reason that so many suffer with rheumatism and so many receive no medical advice is that rheumatism does not stand high on the list of causes of death. One of the good things that came from World War II was that so much lost time from duty was caused by rheumatism that something had to be done to lessen the loss of man power.

Now that the war is over, Dr. Ratz makes a plea for more hospitals for rheumatic patients and more money for research workers to study rheumatism. The main thought in his plea is that research workers should gather more information and hand this knowledge on to the general practitioner.

"Almost all, if not all of the 'physical' treatment of rheumatism—heat, electricity, massage, exercise—can be provided in the average home at small expense."

A Good Time to Make Him a Suit That Fits Properly.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—Maj. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer encountered rough going in his closed-door testimony before the House Foreign Affairs Committee on the $1,450,000,000 European arms bill.

The working-over was administered by Rep. James G. Fulton, R. Pittsburgh, a plain-talking navy veteran.

Lemnitzer is one of the principal authors of the giant armament measure. A 50-year-old West Pointer, he is deputy commandant of the National War College and chairman of the Foreign Assistance Coordinating Committee. In this latter position he has played an important behind-the-scenes role in foreign policy.

Lemnitzer appeared before the committee flanked by a score of senior army officers. They were so numerous they filled all the front seats. As a result, the E.C.A. and State Department delegations were headed by two top experts, Dr. Lloyd V. Berkner and Edward T. Dickinson, but Lemnitzer did most of the talking.

He got off to a bad start by addressing the committee as though it were a staff conference he was briefing. Heavily interlarding his comments with military terminology, he talked at length about logistics, tables of organization and equipment and other technical matters.

"Just a moment," finally broke in Fulton. "Before you go any further, let's cut out all the gobbledegook."

Lemnitzer came to an abrupt halt. Fulton pointed out that Lemnitzer was addressing the foreign affairs committee, not the armed services committee.

"What we want to know," he said, "is how this arms program was worked out. How did you arrive at this $1,450,000,000 figure?"

Lemnitzer replied that an arbitrary price was fixed for the cost of weapons to be sent to Europe. These arbitrary figures have no direct relation to the original cost of the weapons.

"Are all the weapons to be from our surplus supplies?" asked Fulton.

Lemnitzer admitted they would not. Also, that army needs would require replacement of surpluses sent to Europe. Further, that as a result of this replacement, the actual cost of the European program would be $1,850,000,000.

Lemnitzer also disclosed, under questioning, that army intelligence had greatly underestimated Russian military strength two years ago and considerable doubt exists as to the currency and accuracy of present information. He sidestepped direct criticism of army intelligence, but the import of his remarks was unfavorable.

"There is a great deal of feeling in the country and in Congress, observed Fulton, "that the military are shaping our foreign policy.

If that is true, it is not a sound situation."

Note: Before testifying, Lemnitzer submitted his lengthy prepared discourse to William Frye, Defense Department press director, "for suggestions."

Pointed Brush-Off

Last month, Rep. James Van Zandt, R. Pa., telephoned retired air-general "Toots" Spaatz and invited him to participate in the centennial celebration of Altoona, Pa.

Van Zandt's home town, Spaatz, also a Pennsylvania man, promised to try to come.

Several weeks later, Van Zandt, navy reserve captain, blasted Air Secretary Stuart Symington and demanded a probe of E-36 procurement.

The attack led to the House investigation now in progress.

Last week, Van Zandt, wrote Spaatz, reminding him of the Altoona invitation. Spaatz, who had a big hand in the development and purchase of the E-36, sent the following reply:

"I note the Altoona function is on August 8. I am now a reporter and have to be in Washington to cover the B-36 investigation, beginning August 9, for a news magazine. I deeply regret the circumstances, of which you are very well acquainted, that make it impossible for me to accept your invitation."

Still Active

Madame Chiang Kai-Shek dropped out of sight last spring following the failure of her mission to persuade President Truman to extend more large-scale U. S. aid to her husband's tottering regime.

But she is still in the U. S., and still at work. Madame Chiang has an estate near Warrenton, Va., a mansion in Washington and a large apartment in New York. While keeping in the background, she carries on a large correspondence urging U. S. arms and money for the Chinese Nationalists.

Flashes

As the defense department's new "unification coordinator," Lt. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney now has for his office the anteroom of the Pentagon suite he once occupied as deputy to General George C. Marshall, when he was army chief of staff. . . . Sulphur Rep. John Rankin, D. Miss., is no longer a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee. But he has an inside contact in the committee through Ben Mandel, onetime Rankin clerk. Mandel is still on the committee's payroll and keeps his former boss informed of what's going on. Mandel sees eye-to-eye with Rankin on his views . . . Following Supreme Court Justice Murphy's death, a group of top Washington correspondents were polled on whom they favored for a successor.

Result: 9 votes for former Secretary of War Robert Patterson, 2 for Senator Joe O'Mahony, 4 scattering . . . W. Park Kennedy, new head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, assured President Truman that the organization would continue the aggressive liberal policies of the late A. F. Whitney. "We are going to carry on with the same tempo and drive as Mr. Whitney did," Kennedy said. "Our organization will take a very active part in the 1950 congressional elections for Liberal candidates."

Boys' Club Trip Is Called Off on Director's Advice

On the advice of Dr. Robert H. Broad, county commissioner of health, the proposed visit of the Kingston Boys' Club to New York on Saturday, August 20, has been called off. Ken Hyatt, member of the executive committee of the organization, said today.

Hyatt notified The Freeman that Dr. Broad was questioned concerning the advisability of the trip after the recent outbreak of polio. The county health commissioner said he advised the trip to be called off.

Dr. Broad told Hyatt that he didn't favor the trip as the boys who would make up the party would be in the 8 to 12 age group. "This group," he said, "is at the present time seemingly susceptible to the polio disease and the carriers may return to Kingston as carriers of the dreaded disease."

Earlier plans called for the boys to attend a ball game at Yankee Stadium between the Yankees and the Philadelphia Athletics. Tickets for 100 children had been reserved. Transportation to the field was to have been provided by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.

The Woodstock Playhouse will not hold the usual Friday and Sunday "Benefit Nights" this week. The regular performance of "Joy to the World" will be held Friday and Sunday nights along with the usual Thursday and Saturday evening dates and the Sunday matinee.

League Asks Boost In Class 1-A Milk

New York, Aug. 11 (UPI) — The Dairymen's League Cooperative Association wants an increase of 44 cents a hundredweight in the producer price of Class 1-A fluid milk, effective Sept. 1.

The proposed boost would bring the price to 85.68 a hundredweight (about 47 quarts) in the six-state New York milkshed.

It probably would mean a one-cent-a-quart rise in the retail price, since the consumer price usually changes a cent a quart with each 4¢-cent change in producer price.

Leon A. Chapin, league president, announced yesterday that his organization had asked the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers' Bargaining Agency to petition the U. S. secretary of agriculture for the increase.

Chapin said drought damage was cutting milk production and boosting farmers' costs.

The league is one of approximately 50 dairy cooperatives affiliated with the bargaining agency.

The increase in the farm price is due Oct. 1 under terms of the federal-state milk marketing orders, Chapin said.

The produced price in the metropolitan milkshed is based on the Boston market.

Quill Blames Minority

New York, Aug. 11 (UPI) — Michael J. Quill, international president of the C.I.O. Transport Workers Union, blames a recent strike on a small minority of members, and has appealed to the majority to help "put on the brakes."

Quill said in an open letter to the union members yesterday that the eight-day strike against two bus systems was started without his knowledge "by a small but vocal group of members." Quill said the group got out of hand, and the strike was continued against his wishes.

Twenty-five of Minnesota's 87 counties were organized during the month of March.

Belgian Socialist Is First PresidentPravda Sums Up Paper on China

Strasbourg, France, Aug. 11 (AP)—Paul-Henri Spaak, Belgian Socialist leader, was unanimously elected today as the first president of the European Consultative Assembly.

The chunky little Belgian resigned yesterday as Belgium's acting premier and foreign minister so he could take over the top job in the newly-created council of Europe.

Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime prime minister, nominated Spaak for the assembly presidency. The 101 delegates from a dozen countries quickly endorsed the selection without opposition.

Delegates in private negotiations yesterday gave their support to Spaak, one of Europe's outstanding political figures and first president of the United Nations General Assembly. Actual voting was delayed until today to give Spaak time to deal with a government shakeup in Brussels in which he resigned his premiership.

Spaak had been serving as acting premier since Belgian elections more than six weeks ago in which his Socialist Party lost ground. He was succeeded as Belgian premier by Gaston Eyskens, a Christian Socialist.

By quitting his Belgian government post, Spaak became eligible for the Council of Europe Assembly presidency. Assembly rules barred him as a delegate while he served on the council's ministerial committee.

The assembly is the deliberative body of the Council of Europe which opened its first session here this week. The guiding body of the council is the ministerial committee composed of the foreign ministers of the 12 member nations—Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Italy, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Ireland, Greece and Turkey.

The new Belgian government notified the assembly that Paul Van Zeeland was being appointed Belgian foreign minister and would succeed Spaak on the ministerial committee.

The bus was driven, police said, by Donald Danzeisen of Hartland, N. Y. It was en route from Carbondale to New York.

Ford Workers Vote Strike, Margin 7-1; State Holds Poll

Reuther Says UAW Ready to Continue Talks With Company
on Issues

Detroit, Aug. 11 (AP)—Ford workers in Michigan voted overwhelmingly to strike if necessary to get pensions, health benefits and a wage increase.

Virtually complete returns from a strike election supervised by the state showed today the C.I.O. United Auto Workers won strike authority by a seven to one vote.

The State Labor Mediation Board announced the tabulation as follows:

GOES YES: 8,710 no.

The board said 219 ballots were invalidated and 403 challenged. Still to be counted were about 1,800 ballots being brought by state police from the Iron Mountain plant. The board held out about 4,000 ballots from other plants to be counted with the Iron Mountain vote. This was done because the board ruled the vote had to be counted on a state-wide basis without a breakdown by plants. Ford had asked a breakdown.

About 75,000 out of 80,000 eligible voters cast ballots in one of the biggest strike votes in industrial history.

Union leaders were jubilant over the result.

It did not mean, however, Ford workers would strike immediately.

In a statement, Union President Walter Reuther said:

"The U.A.W. C.I.O. is prepared to continue negotiations with Ford Motor Company in a sincere and genuine effort to reach a fair and equitable settlement of the issues involved through down to earth collective bargaining across the conference table."

"We are determined, however, to obtain justice by the use of the full economic power of our union if the Ford Motor Company continues in its refusal to meet the just demands of the Ford workers and their families."

The company in a statement declared its position in bargaining with the union was unchanged by the election. It warned employees that if a strike is called it may be a long one. The statement issued by John S. Bugas, Ford industrial relations director, added:

"Results of the vote are not

Marks Mohn Valley

Hamburg, Germany (AP) — The Mohn Valley in Westphalia looks today as if it had been the playground of a mad giant. Ten-ton boulders are heaped as if left after an Olympic game of marbles. In 1943 the valley had what is believed to be the biggest man-made flood in history. On May 16 British bombers breached the Mohn dam. Most of the houses swept away have been rebuilt. Their bright newness contrasts with the rusting metal of destroyed factories.

Defective Meters

Editor, The Freeman
In your August first issue I read that $3,537 were taken from the city's parking meters. I'm wondering just what per cent of that amount was taken from defective meters. I know that three nickels of it came out of my purse.

On my last three consecutive visits to your fair city, we drove up to the white line, and while the driver was rolling up windows, and locking the door, I deposited the coin, only to discover, too late, that the meter was not working. This meant unlocking the car and driving on to another meter. We country folk go to Kingston for business reasons, not pleasure, and we're pressed for time, and all this means waste of time and coins.

When a meter is found to be defective, couldn't a sign reading in legible print, "Not working" be fastened to the meter, so that hurried, unsuspecting shoppers wouldn't be gyped out of a nickel?

I'm not the only one. As I was walking away from the car the last time I turned back and there was another dupe shaking vigorously the same defective meter which had swallowed up my contribution to the city's treasury.

Can't something be done about this unfair practice?
Yours truly,
MYRTLE L. SEARING

(Note—Anyone who deposits a coin in a parking meter, which fails to work, should take the number of the meter and report it to a police officer.)

Asks F.P.C. to Support Sale of Natural Gas

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation announced today that it has intervened with the Federal Power Commission in Washington, D. C. in support of an application filed by the Home Gas Company on July 21 which requests authority to sell natural gas to Central Hudson II. Home Gas receives this authority it will make connection with Central Hudson's projected gas transmission line in the town of Tuxedo at a point approximately 24 miles from Newburgh.

"Although changes and additions in equipment for natural gas use will require Central Hudson to put an additional $2,000,000 into its gas business, the company predicts that natural gas will result in a greater financial return on its gas investment as well as a reduction in the price of gas for its customers."

The police detail at the plant was augmented from 16 to 25 deputies under orders of Sgt. Victor Vanden Bosch of the Niagara county sheriff's office.

Local 501 of the U.A.W., which represents 1,700 of the plant's 3,000 employees, has been on strike since June 13. The company has refused to negotiate on the two main issues, wages and pensions.

Lawrence D. Bell, president of the aircraft arm, invited the strikers to return to work today despite failure to reach agreement.

Ruth Thompson, regional C.I.O. director declared:

"Bell's action can only mean that he is attempting to destroy the union and return to the law of the 'economic jungle'."

Local 501 appealed to all 3,000 Bell employees to refuse to cross its picket lines.

The local has demanded a 10-cent hourly pay increase and a pension plan. The company said its average wage was $1.78 an hour.

Bell Aircraft Says 300 Enter Factory

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 11 (CP)—Bell Aircraft Corp. said that less than 300 of its 1,300 non-striking employees were able to enter the plant today as the company sought to resume production.

Martin S. Gerber, New York city, regional director of the C.I.O. United Auto Workers, announced that "it is quite evident that the company's attempt to smash the strike has failed completely."

Julius K. Domonkos, vice president in charge of manufacturing at Bell, said:

"The conduct of the pickets is a flagrant violation of the injunction granted by the Supreme Court July 12. The company intends to pursue this further."

Domonkos made his statement from his automobile outside the plant gates, asserting that he has tried to enter the strike-bound plant unsuccessfully.

Company spokesmen said no more than 15 pickets were at any one of the four gates, in accordance with the court order, but "they did not keep their prescribed interval of 10 feet and thus hindered seriously the entrance of automobiles into the plant."

Berger asserted that "if the company is sincerely interested in restoring production, they must now realize that the way to do that is by collective bargaining."

The police detail at the plant was augmented from 16 to 25 deputies under orders of Sgt. Victor Vanden Bosch of the Niagara county sheriff's office.

New York, Aug. 11 (AP)—A tall, 31-year-old man, apparently under the influence of dope, was shot down in a crowded hospital waiting room today after a furniture-topping, tussle with "policemen."

Women patients screamed and nurses and attendants scurried for exits as the man, trying to kick and punch his way outside, was shot twice in the abdomen.

The man, George Westerly, a Bronx Negro, died a few hours later.

Briton Sails Solo To U. S. in 31 Days

New York, Aug. 11 (AP)—They wrote up Christopher Columbus in the history books after he died. But Edward C. Alcard, a 34-year-old British naval architect, was temporarily confined to quarters for doing the same thing.

Alcard, bearded and his hair bleached white by the sun, sailed his seven-ton yawl into New York harbor yesterday after crossing the Atlantic alone, from Gibraltar in 31 days.

Columbus' ship weighed 100 tons and sported a good-sized crew. Alcard was accompanied by sharks and the trade winds.

Well, times change. There's the matter of passports these days. Alcard didn't have one. So immigration authorities confined him to the yawl temporarily while they scoured around to get him a visitor's permit.

It was all a whim, Alcard said. He wanted to be alone.

During the voyage he sampled practically everything the Atlantic could offer. In one mid-ocean gale the yawl was almost completely awash. Some 200 miles southwest of Bermuda a calm developed, and there was a maddening wait of several days for winds.

For several days, too, Alcard was ill and lay in his bunk. Late in the yawl sprang a leak and he had to pump frequently. Sharks followed him for days on end, and once he shot one. At other times he caught edible fish to piece out his rations of canned beef, rice, oatmeal and coffee. He carried only 30 gallons of water.

"In plain American, I'm broke," he said when he arrived. But apparently sailing the ocean is fun. In three or four weeks after he raises "a bit of change" he said he plans to sail back.

Federal Reserve Ready to Combat Possible Recession

Washington, Aug. 11 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board said today it is well armed to combat a recession—if need be.

Its 35th annual report to Congress declared "the Federal Reserve System is much better equipped than ever before to meet the credit needs of the economy in a period of downward adjustment."

Anti-recession weapons were 1. "Virtually unlimited means of supplying the money market with additional reserves, if the situation should call for such action."

American woolen was off more than 2 points as a result of management difficulties, but other building materials shares were unaffected.

Some of the rails were strong, but they were off-set by dips elsewhere in the group. Most of the chemicals were fractions to around a point higher.

The keyn of the market, as a whole was heartening to those who look for a challenge of the 1948 highs. Wednesday's advance put the average list within striking distance of the best level of this year attained in the current mid-term.

3. Legal authority for the Reserve banks to "lend to member banks on any assets considered to be acceptable as security for advances."

4. Further legal authority for the Reserve banks to make loans for working capital purposes to business and industry "where other credit is unavailable."

The board, however, repeated the complaint it made during the boom that preceded last fall, the Federal Reserve System "lacks adequate means of coping with a recurrence of strong inflationary pressures."

For that reason, the report said, the board should be given more power to increase bank reserve requirements, thus freezing additional sums out of the lending stream. Congress has paid little heed to such pleas since the war.

Washington, Aug. 11 (AP)—A compromise farm program for next year won unanimous approval today of a bi-partisan Senate agriculture sub-committee.

The group struck out all remaining provisions for "production payments" proposed by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan as part of his overall new farm program.

Bannan suggested this elimination last week-end after the House previously had killed off a proposed bill run limited to a few farm products.

Senator Anderson (D-N.M.), chairman of the seven-man sub-committee, said the compromise bill will be considered Saturday by the full member agriculture committee.

Approval by that group appears likely because the subcommittee is a majority of the full group that would send the measure on to the Senate.

Protest Is Upheld

Cooperstown, N. Y., Aug. 11 (AP)—Failure to file proper eligibility certificates cost a Buffalo team its chance to represent New York state in the regional American Legion baseball playoffs.

Chairman Earl Stalker of the State Legion Baseball Committee said today Stalker upheld a protest filed by the White Plains team after it lost to Buffalo in the final of the state's eliminations here last Saturday. "I have certified the White Plains team to represent New York state in the regional tournament starting Saturday at Torrington, Conn.," said Stalker.

Requests Are Ignored

Tokyo, Aug. 11 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today ignored requests for comment on the demand of 10 U. S. senators that he go to Washington to testify on the arms and aid he last visit to the States was in 1937 when he was married. Since the war he has declined all invitations to return.

Sources close to the general have made it clear that unless he receives a direct order from President Truman or his army superiors he intends to remain in Japan until his job is completed.

He said he will consider that job done when a peace treaty is signed.

Do You Remember by SOPHIE MILLER

Met Georgiana Fraser on "The Strand" and she said who reads this column in Florida where she now resides. I mentioned her grandfather, Mr. Schick, one evening. Her husband is remembered by many Kingston High School students as a specialist in medieval history. Mrs. Fassel was an active member and officer of the Clinton Chapter Order of the Eastern Star.

Talking to Tommy Edwards in Zack Maroon's store the other day, Tom asked if I remembered when the Zack and Donut Maroon brothers used to make their own delicious ice cream at the Broadway, corner Meadow street store. Also a special Maroon confection of those days called "Snow Ball" which Tommy bought for only two cents and it came in many flavors. Mr. Maroon said it was a sort of snow-ice dipped in flavor. Those were the days, he said, when ice sold for $2.50 a ton, and they often used six tons or more a week in their big half-stone length refrigerator in the basement with 20 cans of ice cream in the making at one time. Tom Edwards is the son of Michael Edwards who used to operate the two-horse driven mammoth sprinkling wagon in Rondout back in the old dusty

Have you ever noticed the date stamped on each carton of A&P eggs? It is put there to protect the quality and freshness of this perishable item.

An egg that is Grade A when it is inspected and packed could become Grade B or C by the time you buy it if it has been improperly or slowly handled.

We don't want that ever to happen to an A&P egg. That is why we put the date when the eggs are graded on each carton. Eggs not sold within a few days of that date are removed from sale even though they are still of good quality.

If you should ever find that any of our egg cartons bear old dates or that any eggs fail to live up to our high quality standards, please tell us about it. Please write:

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

It must be obvious to everyone that we are in the early stages of a prolonged era of "planned economy."

The philosophy of government today in these still almost-free United States may be summed up in Franklin D. Roosevelt's dictum: "We planned it that way."

Time and again these words came over the radio — "we planned it that way"—and you may be sure that White-House Washington still subscribes to that sloganized philosophy.

Admittedly, the 81st Congress is making "as difficult" for Mr. Truman to "plan it his way" as did the 80th Congress.

But if we intend to be realistic we must concede that little by little we are edging deeper into a planned economy. Let us, who are opposed to a socialized state be at least "realistic reactionaries." While we are devoted to the free enterprise system, let us not stick our heads in the sand and be blind to the trend which is (I believe) headed strongly toward a "Washington-managed state."

Contrary to those who assert that a managed economy is bound to fail, it must be conceded (I further believe) that a managed economy will work for a time, perhaps for a number of years.

Consider our own economy. It is superlatively strong. The United States is rich in everything: Great natural resources, vast productive wealth, extraordinary earning power of the people, huge backlog of savings, mammoth buildings and industrial plants, and a standard of living that is the envy of the rest of the world.

This nation is so rugged and holds such amazing reserve strength that it can withstand for years the mistaken and foolhardy theories of the planned-economy boys.

Accordingly, it seems to this contrary-minded observer of the "revolution" that we have to be a two-headed watchman:

1. We should recognize the tremendous sweep of Industrial America and disregard the defeatist and negative attitude of a large proportion of our population (and of businessmen) today.

2. At the same time, we are forced to mark carefully the intent, as well as the actions, of politicians and anti-business groups who are interested solely in feathering their own nests at the expense of the capitalistic system.

If we can possibly force our minds to follow this main two-lane artery, we may avoid the narrow roads of confusion and dangerous ditches.

In other words, while the planners and do-gooders are misleading the public with their schemes and panaceas for economic ills, we can weigh their plans against the great underlying strength of the American industrial system which has been built up over a period of 150 years by a thriving free-enterprise nation. We can bear in mind that what rugged individuals built in a century cannot be torn down in one decade, or perhaps in several.

In thinking sanely on the great-

57 of Men Taken As Gamblers Had Previous Records

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 11 (AP)—Fifty-seven of the 187 men arrested July 28 in a Maple Shade gambling raid had previous criminal records, State Police Superintendent Charles H. Schoefel said today.

The records ranged from burglary to murder.

The state police official said he has released the figures to show that "the gambling fraternity is made up of vicious criminal elements."

Of the 57, Col. Schoefel said, 38 were arrested before on gambling charges. There were two more arrests for murder, two for rape, one for white slavery, 11 for holdup and robbery, three for atrocious assault and battery, one for counterfeiting, one for peddling narcotics, one for issuing worthless checks and three for running an illicit still.

Most of the 187 men were arrested as patrons of the gambling house. They posted $200 bonds and were released.

However, 14 men were held for the Burlington county grand jury on charges of operating the place.

State police, who raided the building, said it was constructed of cement block and was made especially for gambling purposes. They said it contained slot machines and dice tables.

Mundt Says Letter Blatant Invitation

Washington, Aug. 11 (AP)—Senator Mundt (R-S.D.) heatedly charged today that a letter written by a War Assets Administration employee to James V. Hunt, in August, 1947, was a "blatant invitation for bribery or corruption of some kind."

Mundt, a member of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, spoke out after a committee investigator had read the contents of a letter which he said was written by Clarence H. Oehler to Hunt.

Another letter told of Oehler obtaining for Hunt match covers with "White House" "H.H.V." and "H.S.T." printed on them.

Hunt now a Washington business counselor, has been a prime figure in the committee's inquiry into activities of "five percenters"—individuals who seek out government contracts for others for a fee.

The committee investigation previously has developed that Hunt ordered books of match folders bearing the imprint "Swiped from Harry S. Truman." Hunt said then that he was acting at the request of the White House.

"H.H.V." are the initials of Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, whose name has figured in the inquiry.

Francis D. Flanagan, committee investigator, said that Oehler was a warehouse specialist for the W.A.A. in the western area at the time he wrote letters to Hunt, formerly a $50-a-day consultant for W.A.A. in Washington.

Oehler, now with the American Industrial Development Corporation of St. Louis, was in the room during Flanagan's testimony. He was to take the stand later.

The committee also planned to take the old off evidence that led to suspension of the army's chemical corps chief, Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt, last July 16, evidence which he read to the committee which was taken from Hunt's files.

Mundt's ire was aroused when the investigator read a letter dated August 19, 1947, which referred to an August 7 letter from Hunt to Oehler.

In the letter, Oehler told Hunt of plans to sell in his area automotive parts worth about $100,000 in acquisition value. Oehler wrote that "I will direct the program." He added that "I have carte blanche to sell them now on negotiated or bid or odd lot sale."

The letter said "this is confidential information." Flanagan said the words "confidential information" were underlined. The letter told Hunt "the time is ripe" to get into operation. It went on to say that he thought some manufacturer and dealers "can make a good deal procuring these parts."

Mundt then spoke out. He also wanted to know if there was anything in the letter that offers "any justification for a War Assets Administration employee passing along this secret information."

Hunt's earlier letter quoted him as saying, "our good friend Harry" sent me an autograph of one of our ambassadors and asked about getting some match covers made for him.

Oehler's reply said, "You say Harry V. wants to have match sets for an ambassador. Okay can do."

Oehler went on to say he had had a "long talk" in Detroit with Rufus Matthews, whom he identified as General Fieldman's "right hand man."

(This was an apparent reference to Maj. Gen. Herman Fieldman, army quartermaster general appointed by Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray along with Waitt July 16).

The proposed sale of the automatic parts then was disclosed.

Oehler took the witness stand and in reply to questions said he never received any pay or promise of pay from Hunt. He told the Senate subcommittee he was concerned he might lose his job with W.A.A. in a reduction of personnel.

"I was trying to build myself up with Colonel Hunt so I would have a future job," Oehler declared.

In reply to a question by Senator Hays (D-N.C.), Oehler said Hunt never had solicited any of the information furnished to him by Oehler. He added:

"Any information I gave Colonel Hunt was of a public nature. None of it was confidential."

Hoy asked, "Did you mark it confidential just to fool Mr. Hunt?"

Oehler: "That's right."

William Rogers, chief committee counsel, saying he was reading questions submitted by Hunt's attorney, asked Flanagan if there was any indication that Hunt ever paid Oehler any money.

"None that we found," Flanagan answered.

Newburgh Soldier Dies in Accident

Fine Camp, N. Y., Aug. 11 (AP)—A first sergeant was fatally injured last night in a jeep accident while drawing water for troops of his national guard unit in training here.

An army spokesman reported that Salvatore Galietta, 34, 187 Ronwick street, Newburgh, died en route to the post hospital after a jeep in which he was riding skidded off the highway and overturned.

Staff Sgt. Myron H. Borsi, 31, of Gurnee road near Newburgh suffered a back injury in the accident. The hospital reported him in good condition today.

Both men were members of Battery C, 170th Field Artillery Battalion of the 27th Division which ended a three-day field maneuver this morning. They were en route from their unit bivouac area to draw water when the accident occurred.

House Passes Bill To Raise Minimum Wage in Nation

Washington, Aug. 11 (AP)—The House passed today a bill to raise the national minimum wage from 40 cents an hour to 75, as asked by President Truman.

The measure went to the Senate, where a similar minimum wage bill is pending. The Senate has set the measure aside repeatedly for other legislation, however, and it is uncertain when the bill may be called up for debate there.

The House action was, in a sense, a victory for the administration. The bill carried the 75-cent minimum advocated by the President, Secretary of Labor Tobin, and representatives of major labor organizations.

However, it also carried substantially the revision of coverage pushed by a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats. The bill was introduced by Rep. Lucas (D-Tex.).

Earlier the House had refused to wash out three days of heated debate on minimum wage legislation by sending the whole thing back to its labor committee for more study.

A motion to do that lost 242 to 41 on a standing vote.

Communist Is Rebuked by Judge

New York, Aug. 11 (AP)—One of America's top Communist leaders, who fought with the U. S. Army in the Pacific, was rebuked by a federal judge yesterday for commenting on the witness stand that his former commander, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, "was not a liberal man."

"You don't need to toss those dugs in," said Judge Harold R. Medina.

The slap at MacArthur was made by New York State's Communist Party Chairman, Robert G. Thompson, who also fought with the Republican army in the Spanish Civil War.

Thompson declared that the slogan, "My country, right or wrong," is "one of the most vicious and harmful in the world."

"It is the slogan of big business-monopoly capital," the defendant at the Red conspiracy trial declared.

"I hate it more than anything else in the world," he said.

"The reason I hate it is because I had to kill many young Germans, Italians and Japanese who

Thompson, 34, who won the Distinguished Service Cross for heroism in New Guinea, is the fourth defendant to testify at the seven-month-old trial.

He and ten other Communists are charged with conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government.

Thompson's testimony was largely a repetition of a speech he made to 1,000 party members here in 1947.

He denied testimony by Barnes Hidalgo, Jr., an FBI informant and prosecution witness, and said Hidalgo had given a "manufactured version" of a Thompson speech before the party members.

Thompson said he told his audience that "big business" was seeking to bring on a third world war.

"These policies," he said, "were colliding with the peace policies of Soviet Russia and meeting the resistance of the people's governments in Europe."

The witness denied that the Communist Party in the U. S. had taught the Russian slogan—"turn the imperialists' war into a civil war."

Thompson said he told the party members that the American people "do not want war," but that "big industrial elements" wanted war hysteria in order to obtain "armament orders and big profits."

Andrew J. Murphy III has announced that after the children's show two movies will be shown. To Swear in Cabinet

Brussels, Belgium, Aug. 11 (AP)—A new Belgian cabinet is to be sworn in today, breaking a 50-day deadlock. The announcement that agreement on a new coalition government had been reached was made by Gaston Eyskens, a Social Christian, who said he would head a cabinet made of Social Christians and Liberals. The previous cabinet, a coalition of Social Christians and Socialists, was headed by Socialist Paul-Henry Spaak.

The witness denied that the slogan, "My country, right or wrong," is "one of the most vicious and harmful in the world."

"It is the slogan of big business-monopoly capital," the defendant at the Red conspiracy trial declared.

Secrets From a French Chef

"GENERAL OF FOOD"—Meet Gaston Magrin, 200-pound chief chef of the now Ile de France Liner.BY GAYNOR MADDOX
(NEA Staff Writer)

Gaston Magrin weighs over 200 pounds, wears a tall white hat and both a small French mustache and a little tuft just below the lower lip. He's one of the world's most redoubtable chefs. He is chief chef of the new French luxury liner, Ile de France, and is a chevalier of both the Legion d'Honneur and Merite Maritime.

"One of the reasons for my success," he explains, "is that I cook for women rather than for men. Women want to keep their figures so I prepare dishes that are not too heavy."

Rich or otherwise, the dishes the fabulously Magrin prepares for passengers aboard the Ile de France are something to dream about. His skill with fish and fish sauces is famous round the world. So let's learn his secret.

To Poach Fish: To poach fish means to simmer fish, preferably in vegetable stock, to bring out the best flavor of the fish. French cooks take equal quantity of fresh water and white wine, enough so the fish will be entirely covered when put in the pan. Into this liquid, they add salt, pepper, some parsley, laurel leaves, thyme, one clove, one or two carrots and a large onion. If no white wine can be had, then use one or two tablespoonsfuls of vinegar, depending on the size of the fish.

Bell this mixture for one hour. When ready, place the fish in it, and allow to simmer over a very slow fire, or on the back of a coal range, until tender. If the fish is boiled rapidly, it will all break up in pieces and lose its shape. Leave in the liquid until ready to serve.

This poaching method can be used for Filets de Sole Marguery, Bass a la Paysanne, and Filets de Soles Surprise.

Health for All

TB and Danger Signals People who refuse to "keep tabs" on their health, with regular physical examinations, even though they think they are well, are unwise. But those who ignore definite signals that something is wrong take a foolish chance and invite serious illness and even death.

During summer months, people who seem tired all the time, lose weight, and never seem hungry at mealtime frequently blame the summer heat and insist there is nothing they can do about it. It's true that intense heat and humidity can interfere with "pop" and appetite, but the loss of energy can also be the sign of such a serious disease as tuberculosis. Tuberculosis has no obvious symptoms when it first strikes, but is frequently accompanied by fatigue, loss of appetite and loss of weight. Hence, while a person who has these complaints is busy blaming it all on the weather, he may be losing valuable time in fighting his disease.

There are other danger signals of tuberculosis, which usually come later, including a cough that hangs on, pain in the chest, and splitting up of blood. When these accompany fatigue and poor appetite, tuberculosis may have taken serious hold.

If people would get chest X-rays regularly—at least once a year—tuberculosis could be found in an early stage, before it became more advanced and more difficult to cure.

Hot summer days are frequently responsible for bringing out the lazy streak in some of us. The weather might be responsible for making a person feel "dragged" out all the time—and again it may not. But a constant feeling of exhaustion might mean tuberculosis. Those who suffer from such fatigue should see the doctor promptly and find out what is wrong.

Junior Miss Title Sought

Pittsburgh, Aug. 11 (AP)—Teenage beauties will vie tonight for the title of Junior Miss America. Eighty others were eliminated last night in the semifinals of the contest sponsored by West View Park, which took over prominent persons for publicity purposes without their consent. The winner in the finals tonight will receive a cash prize of $200 and a scholarship to the Theatre School of Dramatic Arts in New York city.

Sixty languages and dialects are spoken in Manila.

R. F. Barnes Dies

New York, Aug. 11 (AP)—Raymond Flatt Barnes, 72, treasurer of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church for 24 years, died Tuesday at his home in Brooklyn. He was born in Rahway, N. J.

Government Bonds Rise in Line With Deficit Financing

New York, Aug. 11 (AP)—United States government bonds have been going up in the treasury heads into deficit financing. British government bonds have been going down as the English exchequer's dollar deficit heads into another of its perpetual crises.

Deficit financing means you are spending more than you are taking in and finding the cash for this way of living by various means. One of them is by selling bonds. At the start this has an inflationary effect on business and the financial markets. But if confidence becomes undermined, you find deficits may work the other way. American bonds are up in price because the administration is adjusting the money supply to make bond buying attractive to our banks.

British bonds are down in price because the London government cannot, or will not, take the steps that would hold them steady. Falling prices in the last three weeks have wiped out about $2 billion in their quoted values.

Sold on Soundness

Americans are still sold on the soundness of this country, no matter how much they may differ among themselves from time to time on the wisdom of various fiscal and governmental policies.

Therefore, the U. S. Treasury is able to sell its securities, in increasing quantity, in the face of an announced policy of red-link bookkeeping. People still regard them as one of the best buys. And the banks haven't many other places just now to put their money to work.

Billions on the other hand, are showing signs of being worried about the financial status of their country, as crisis follows crisis. So some of them have been selling their government securities, and keeping the cash.

The Federal Reserve Board has kept a close watch on U. S. bond prices all along. Recently it has stopped putting its bond holdings on the market, to let the banks bid up the price of available bonds. As bond prices rise, the yield is lower—"money is cheaper." This creates the cheap money climate into the Treasury wants when it goes into the market to raise cash through offering increased quantities of short-term bills.

The board also has lowered bank reserve requirements. This means that money which banks formerly had to hold now can be used for investment. The banks, however, already have large sums on hand—their loans to business have dropped steadily throughout the first half of the year, and deposits and savings accounts piled up.

The idle money from the three sources—federal reserves, the money business doesn't want, and the people's savings—can flow into the U. S. securities market. So bond prices rise in over the counter sales as the demand for them increases.

In England, however, the tide has been running the other way.

The London government has been issuing a string of new securities in recent years to pay for the industries it nationalized. Its costs of running them have been high, too. This swells the supply of government bonds.

Investors Nervous

At the same time, the government's well-advised dollar shortage makes British investors nervous. And the rumor that never dies—that England soon will devalue the pound—makes investors even more nervous, because it would also devalue their holdings.

All this is aggravated just now by the approaching showdown in Washington in September when British and American officials will seek some way out of the current dollar crisis, brought on because Britain has been contracting to buy more goods with dollars than she has been able to sell for dollars.

The first way out that comes to mind—another loan to Britain—might have hard sledding in Congress. The Senate has just clipped Marshall Plan funds for this year. England got about $1.3 billion from E.C.A. last year. This year she may get only $900 million, according to a Paris story that will make unpleasant reading in London. It indicates a change may be coming over old Uncle Bountiful.

One way to ease deficit financing, of course, either here or abroad is to cut governmental expenditures.

British critics of their government say that if costs and taxes were cut, Britain's economic crisis could right itself. So far, London has shown no signs of doing either.

In this country, the mere suggestion to Congress by the Federal Reserve Board chairman that costs be trimmed and the burden of taxation lightened, brought an immediate rise in prices on the country's stock exchanges.

Lightning kills about 500 persons annually in the United States, but approximately 100 of these deaths occur in the month of August.

ADVERTISEMENTMan Shot, Killed

New York, Aug. 11 (AP)—A New York man was shot and killed on a Rockaway Beach street corner about dawn today by two men who fled in a stolen green sedan, police said. The victim was identified as James Hannan, about 50, of 30-34 Eighty-fourth street. Queens Police said witnesses saw a green sedan stop at the street-side where Hannan was standing. Two men got out of the car, fired twice at close range, hitting Hannan in the head, police said. The car, in which the two sped away, was found abandoned later.

As Pegler Sees It

even China have received benefits at the whim of the bosses, always with political provisions, of course. The item in Justice revealed that it is intended to sell a total of ten million dollars of bonds to "American trade unionists and others." There is no evidence that the American workers who are committed to this loan of money by Dubinsky and a few other union bosses actually did desire to help. A poll might have shown unanimous desire or great opposition. But it is significant that Dubinsky did not put the matter to a vote. He simply ordered the thing done by a pledge of the General Executive Board, which he controls.

Carroll Displays Great Talent in Playhouse Feature

Woodstock, Aug. 11 — In the opening presentation of "Joy to the World" by Allan Scott, directed by Bill Ross, at the Woodstock Playhouse, Tuesday evening, Robert Carroll displayed a great talent in his characterization of the verbose motion picture magnate, Alexander Soren, as he set fast pace for the capable cast in the three-act comedy which continues through Sunday, August 14.

At the risk of ruining a successful and profitable career, Alexander Soren, vice-president in charge of production of Atlas-Continental Pictures, refuses to compromise his ideas regarding the type of picture he wishes to make. These ideas which have been in a dormant state for many years assume a major importance through the subtle influence of one Dr. Wood, head of the research department, who turns out to be a most attractive young woman. In this role, Barbara Ames gives a creditable performance.

A fine display of temperament and comedy was depicted by Kurt Kasznar as Dimitri Oumansky, the Russian composer. An excellent scene in the third act was that between Si Oakland, competitor, capably handled by Sam Blumfeld and Alexander Soren. Joseph Foley, too turned in a capable performance as J. V. Hooper, major stockholder in Atlas-Continental. Department heads, Robert Dustin as Richard Stanton; Heywood Hale Brown as Edward F. Gannon; and Harrison Dowd as Mortimer Behrman were splendid in their respective roles. Mary McColl, secretary, played by Jane Lloyd-Jones and J. Newton McKeon, publicity man depicted by Randolph Echols contributed much to the successful production.

Others in the cast included Richard Brickner, Floyd; Harriet Rotman, Mildred; Sonya Rubin, Edith Wham; Michael Linenthal, Tilworth; Edwin Pigeon, Sampson; Paul Berkowsky, Mr. Harry Wilcox; John Schwartz, Diana Rogers, and Joan de Keyser, Messengers, and the Irish Setter, Cindy.

The appropriate and well-designed set was by George Corrin.

Work Is Started on Local Water System in Village

Woodstock, Aug. 11—R. E. Chapman, Oakdale, Mass., who received the contract for well drilling in connection with the new water system to be established in the village of Woodstock, arrived yesterday to await the equipment. The drilling began Tuesday morning. Representatives of the Peckham Construction Company will be in Woodstock next Monday morning to begin the laying of pipe for the system.

It is learned that Victor Cannon has given to the town a piece of land on Mead's Mountain Road, on which the standpipe will be erected. This tank will have a capacity of 100,000 gallons of water.

Weavers Picnic

Woodstock, Aug. 11—Representatives of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania Weaving Guilds met with local weavers Wednesday afternoon for a picnic at the home of well-known fellow craftsman, Miss Berta Frey, Wittenberg. About 60 weavers in all attended the picnic meeting.

League Students Displaying Art In Theatre Lobby

Woodstock, Aug. 11—The outstanding work being done by Roy Earth and Bob Ferguson, both veterans World War 2 and students at the Art Students League, has earned for them a two-man show which may be seen this week in the lobby of the Woodstock Playhouse.

Paintings by these two young men are also included in the group show currently featured in the league gallery and which will continue to August 26.

Miss Sue Schwengeler, registrar, and Mrs. Emily Smith, who is in charge of the Woodstock League office, both report a successful season for the school. There are 138 students registered for this month, 50 of whom are veterans.

The Shires found Japan to be a fascinating country. "It is mysterious enough... if you try hard you can figure out some of the mystery but in spite of that it continues to remain a mystery. However, it is stimulating."

Do you plan to do more writing in the near future? "No," replied the attractive young matron.

"When we take up residence at Fort Lewis, Washington,

Although majoring in music during the time of her formal education, the first job she held for two years on the Albany-Knickbocker News. After graduating from the grade school in Woodstock, she attended St. Mary's School, Peekskill, the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, and the School of Music in Fontainebleau, France.

"Ladies First" was the title selected by her publisher for the book she was requested to write about the life and customs of American women.

"I had not been in Tokyo very long when I realized that I would have plenty of time on my hands. Well-trained servants were doing a beautiful job of housekeeping in our home, and while I allot some time each day for my music, nevertheless, it was obvious that I could do something more. A visit to the office of 'The Stars and Stripes' produced the offer for a full-time job on the paper, but believing that would take more time than I could spare, I applied for a job on the Nippon Times and it was not long before I was writing a music column for that paper."

Soon after she became associated with the Nippon Times she and Captain Shirley were invited to be the dinner guests of a Japanese publisher. "Women have no status in Japan," said the young author. "Men live and the women help them live. You can therefore imagine my surprise upon arriving at our guest's home to find myself accorded the place of honor."

"As is the Japanese custom, there was no furniture, and nothing was on the walls. However, the one thing that strikes the eye upon entering a house is the Tokonoma, an alcove from ceiling to floor set back about one foot from the main wall and in it is the Nakemono, or hanging scroll. The guest of honor always sits on the floor just in front of the Tokonoma."

It was on this occasion that Jane Shirley was asked to write the book about how American women behave. The publisher explained that the Japanese women were anxious to learn "as fast as they could" all about western ways.

They were eager to know how to use lipstick and face cream as well as other things. The book was to be written for the high school level of reader.

Before attempting the assignment, Mrs. Shirley did a great deal of research on Japan.

After many complications because of the lack of paper, the book was finally published and she was besieged with photographers and reporters. The title "Ladies First" amused the author as did a cover description which reads "ladies from this moment your lives will be different."

The attitude of the Japanese men and women toward Western customs was described by the writer when she said, "They are going through the motions but they don't really understand it. I believe it will take a long time before the women are emancipated. For generations, they have been brought up to serve, they are long suffering."

Describing a man and his wife going into a public dining room, Mrs. Shirley said it almost seemed as though they were both concentrating upon what it was that they were supposed to do, and invariably forgot at least one of the small courtesies to which we are all accustomed. She laughed as she spoke of couple about to leave a restaurant when the lady reached for her coat and stood holding it

80 Per Cent of Bonus Given Out by State

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 11 (AP)—About 80 per cent of New York's $400,000,000 soldier bonus has been handed out in 19 months.

Most of the $80,000,000 that's left will disappear swiftly if the voters, as expected on November 8, approve a constitutional amendment making former New York residents eligible for payments.

Gerald E. Rowley, state bonus bureau director, believes it possible for the balance to "disappear practically nothing" by July 1, 1950.

Up to August 1, the bureau paid $317,003,085.88 to 1,451,954 claimants.

An additional 31,000 applications have been rejected—mostly because the claimants were not living in New York state when they filed even though they entered the armed forces from this state.

The state estimates there are about 1,670,000 eligible veterans or next of kin. Including rejects, that means there are about 200,000 potential applicants yet to be received.

Rowley believes a large share of them will file after anticipated approval of the non-resident amendment. He estimates that about 25,000 of the 31,000 rejects were non-residents who otherwise were qualified for the $50, $150 and $250 bonuses, depending on length of service and overseas duty.

About 18 per cent of eligible veterans did not file for the state's World War I bonus. So far, only about 11 per cent of the World War II eligibles have failed to file.

In the first 18 months, $50 bonuses went to 26,087 veterans, $150 checks to 393,063, and $250 payments to 987,191.

Boy Sues to Have Divorce Set Aside

New York, Aug. 11 (AP)—Mom and Pop made a mistake, claims five-year-old Ronald Henry Farah.

The boy, just out of kindergarten, filed suit in State Supreme Court yesterday for annulment of his parent's divorce.

His petition claims a 1945 Reno divorce obtained by his mother and guardian, Mrs. Frances Farah, is not valid because she was not a bona fide resident of Nevada.

Named as defendant in the suit is the boy's father, Henry Farah, a fabrics manufacturer.

The boy also asks $50,000 damages, claiming his father misrepresented his financial position in an agreement, incorporated in the divorce decree, which provided that he pay $55 weekly to support the mother and boy.

The action was brought through the mother. Her attorney, Berlin, California, said the boy's mother learned after the support agreement was made that Farah had an annual income of $25,000.

The attorney said the mother could not sue to have the divorce set aside because she was a party to it, but that Ronald, as an out-of-court witness, could do so.

Johnson to Hold Canadian Parley

Ottawa, Aug. 11 (AP)—Louis Johnson, United States defense secretary, is scheduled to arrive here today for talks with the Canadian government.

His itinerary calls for a meeting with the Cabinet Defense Committee shortly after his arrival at Rockcliffe Airport.

Two members of the top Advisory Board on Continental Defense also will attend the meeting.

They are Gen. A. G. L. MacNaughton, Canadian chairman of the Joint Defense Board, and Maj.-Gen. Robert Walsh, an American U. S. Air Force, an American member.

Disclosure that they will attend aroused speculation about the meeting—no members of the board attended a similar meeting last year when the late James Forrestal, then U. S. defense secretary, visited Ottawa.

Official announcements have said only that Johnson and the government will discuss "matters of mutual interest." That covers a lot of territory. Canada and the United States already are firmly linked in continental defense planning.

Three Noted Speakers To Talk Friday at Tanglewood Theatre

Lenox, Mass., Aug. 11—Ambassador Warren R. Austin, Dr. Serge Koussevitzky, Miss Rosamond Gilder, U.N.E.S.C.O. theatre delegate, and Publisher C. D. Jackson will speak here Friday evening during "Tanglewood on Parade."

The four noted figures will deliver brief addresses during the "manifestation" starting at 8 in the Music Shed before the gala Boston Symphony Orchestra concert.

Ambassador Austin, chief of the U. S. mission to the United Nations, will speak on "Harmony to Save Succeeding Generations from the Scourge of War." Dr. Koussevitzky, music director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will open the meeting with a few words of greeting. Miss Gilder's subject will be the theatre as a force in international understanding. Mr. Jackson, publisher of Fortune and former managing director of Time-Life International, will be chairman.

Former U. S. senator from Vermont, Mr. Austin is one of the strongest supporters of the U.N. in its efforts to achieve permanent world peace.

Miss Gilder returned two weeks ago from Europe, where she was head of the U. S. delegation to the Congress of the International Theatre Institute in Zurich. She is chairman of the panel on dramatics of the National Committee for U.N.E.S.C.O., secretary of the American National Theatre and Academy, and former editor of Theatre Arts magazine.

Mr. Jackson was managing director of Time-Life International from 1945 until early this year, when he was named publisher of Fortune. A vice-president of Time Inc., since 1940, he was deputy chief of the psychological warfare branch of Allied Force Headquarters in North Africa, Sicily and Italy and in England in the early years of the war, and head of the Allied Information Service during the French and Belgian campaigns.

The manifestation will be part of an evening-long celebration for the benefit of the Berkshire Music Center, starting at 6 for general-admission visitors and at 4:30 for box-holders and holders of reserved section tickets.

The program includes a parade and assembly, simultaneous performances by four departments of the Tanglewood music school, a lawn party, Boston Symphony Orchestra concert, dancing and fireworks.

Personal Notes

Miss Ruth W. Mulford, R. N., and Mrs. Georgiana Fraser have returned to Lakeland, Fla., after spending two weeks vacation with relatives in Kingston and vicinity.

Mrs. Burdette R. Tuttle, Mrs. Francella A. Smith and Miss Janet B. Smith have returned from their vacation spent at Belleville, N. J., Richmond Hill, L. I., and Larchmont, N. Y. They are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Reach and small sons, Richard and David, of Belleville at their home, 16 Ponckhockie street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell of 425 Albany avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Grum, of 39 O'Neill street, have returned home after spending a week touring the New England states and Canada. Among the many interesting places they visited were Old Orchard Beach, Mount Washington and Bar Harbor where they saw the havoc wrought by the disastrous forest fire of a year ago. Delightfully cool weather was another pleasure they had on their entire trip.

DeWitt-DuBois Wedding in Highland

Highland, Aug. 11—Amid a setting of white gladiolas and lighted candles the marriage of Miss Geraldine DuBois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert DuBois, Lindeberg Place, Poughkeepsie, to Charles DeWitt Kosciusko, Miss, took place at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Oscar Jelsma, pastor of the church. A recital of organ music by the organist, Mrs. Herman Jordan, and solos, The Wedding Hymn and The Lord's Prayer were sung by Miss Grace Bruckbacher.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white marquise over taffeta. The square neckline had a standing lace collar and lace ruffles fell from the waistline down the long train. A finger tip veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli with orchid center.

Miss Donna Brown, Millbrook, as maid of honor, wore pale green marquise over taffeta with matching hat and mitts and carried salmon gladioli. The Misses Patricia Hart of Pleasant Valley and Helen Goth of Poughkeepsie wore gowns of orchid with ruffled sashes and net veils and carried colonial bouquets of yellow gladioli. The flower girl, Viola Koudas, Poughkeepsie, wore a hoop skirted dress, similar to the bridesmaids with salmon gladioli.

"Many of our evening students," he continued, "take courses for credit toward degrees, but many others take individual subjects or groups of subjects for self-advancement without reference to degrees. We try to satisfy the needs of both groups."

Established five years ago, for the benefit of both men and women in eastern New York, western Massachusetts, and southern Vermont, Professor Wiltsie said that "increasing interest by the people of this area has made it permissible to expand each year in both technical and non-technical subjects."

Clases will meet on two or three evenings each week for 17 weeks. Printed detailed information may be obtained upon request to the Evening Division offices. Applications will be accepted through August 27.

The bride's mother wore pink lace over taffeta with white accessories and corsage of white roses. Later a reception was held for 75 people at The Dells, Poughkeepsie. A wedding trip took them to the home of Mr. DeWitt, in Kosciusko, Miss. For traveling the bride wore a dress of orchid point with white accessories and orchid corsage. Owing to the illness of Mr. DeWitt, Sr., his family could not be present.

The bride, a graduate of the Arlington High School, holds a position with the New York Telephone Company. Their home in Freedom Plains is ready for their return. Mr. DeWitt on Monday received his honorable discharge from the army. He had been stationed at Stewart Field. Mrs. DeWitt's mother was the former Miss Leona Judge who had been a former resident of Highland.

Bristol Sweeps Series With 11 to 1 Raking of Colonials Behind Coleman

Locals to Return Sunday Night For Doubleheader

The Bristol batting practice at the stadium last night was declared an official contest and the league-leading Owls were returned the winners, 11 to 1, to complete a profitable two-day stay in Kingston.

While more than 600 fans looked on the Owls pummeled Francisco Sostre and Harold Catadul for 19 hits and threatened to steal Carl Anstaeatt's shirt.

In the two games the Owls collected 31 hits and 20 runs. Guy Coleman, a cute right hander, restricted the Colonials to seven hits and hurled shutout ball until the eighth inning.

Pedro Escalera and Gerald Rutkay wrecked the locals with four hits apiece. Escalera produced a double and three singles, while the crack shortstop delivered four singles. Each accounted for a trio of RIBS.

Carlos Bernier, the speed demon, who is hitting with the lifetime OBI record for stolen bases, pilfered four times and Escalera stole twice to give Anstaeatt one of his worst nights of the season. But for a sensational backhanded running catch, the Owls might have scored a half dozen runs off Sostre in the first inning. As it was, the guy senior had little more than the regulation uniform and glove. He was pounded for a dozen hits and six runs in seven innings before yielding to Harold Catadul, who made his bightly appearance to be whacked for seven hits and five runs in the last two rounds. The impression exists that Catadul needs a rest, far, far away.

Coleman, picking up eight strikeouts en route hogted the Colonials until the eighth when Allan Thommer opened with a single to right. McNamara followed with a safety to the same sector and Perlmutter sent Bernier back to deep center for a fly ball. Muhan's single to right loaded the bases and Matzer's clout to deep center on which Bernier made a great running catch broke the shutout spell.

The Colonials had one last chance in the ninth after Anstaeatt opened with a walk. Spouski to Bernier and Demeril, batting for Catadul, fanned. Thommer singled to left and both runners moved up on La France's third error, a wild heave into right, trying to nab Thommer off first. McNamara ended the game with a grounder to short.

Coleman Applies Pressure.

Coleman actually had four strikeouts in the Colonial second when Muhan fanned but reached first base when La France missed the third strike. Matzer walked and both advanced on La France's second error, a wild throw past Escalera. At this point, the Bristol veteran merged Ferony and Anstaeatt and Spouski in success-sion. The speedy Bernier gave the fans a show in the Bristol eighth which he launched with a strait hit to the right side. He stole second, then third but was nabbed on a close play at home plate on his attempt to complete the cycle of steals.

Thommer and McNamara shared four of the seven hits off Coleman.

With La France's three errors and the six stolen bases off Anstaeatt, the entailing situation bordered on musical comedy stuff. The Colonials hit the road until Sunday when they return for a tw-night doubleheader against the Poughkeepsie Chiefs.

King Ranch in Jersey
Atlantic City, N. J. (P) — The King Ranch of Texas, second in money won with $490,832 last year, and William Hollis, whose horses placed third with $430,292, will race portions of their stable at the Atlantic City meeting. Calumet Farm, top money winner last year, for the remainder of the summer will confine its racing to Chicago and Saratoga.

Not Good for Them
Instruments should not be kept in cedar cabinets, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica, because the resinous matter in the wood acts as a corrosive.

Sonny Woods sparked the Royals with two hits while Norton and Smith collected two apiece for the losing team.

Fuller's Triumph

Scoring one run in the bottom half of the eighth inning, Fullers won a 3 to 2 squeaker over Subway Grill Wednesday night at Sahier's Park behind the fifty-four-hit hurling of Ben Frear who was making his second start of the season.

Fullers jumped off early with a run in the first and another in the fourth to make it 2-0 before what the Subways could find out what was going on.

Then Bob Schatzel walked and reached second on F. Spada's single. At Hunt lined a long drive earmarked for a homer when Ed Netter turned in a spectacular catch. Schatzel scored after the catch. After Fautz whiffed, Brown attempted to nab Spada off first and threw to right and Spada romped in with the tying run.

Frank Roe led off the eighth for Fullers with a double. Netter pushed Roe to third on a bunt and the payoff was delivered by Andy Murphy who clubbed a single to right driving in Roe with the tie-breaking run.

T. Spada and J. Amato divided the mound chores for the Subways. They allowed combined total of four hits.

Congressmen Look Toward Vacation

Washington, Aug. 11 (AP)—House members started planning hopefully today on a one-month vacation, starting possible at the end of next week.

The word has been quietly passed around that if several major bills still on the House docket can be disposed of by August 19, the House can get out of town and let the Senate sweat it out alone.

Majority Leader McCormack of Massachusetts virtually assured members of a long recess yesterday. He did so in saying that House recessed might be in order after House passage of the President's arms-aid proposal and a bill for economic assistance to Korea. "We are far ahead of the Senate," McCormack noted.

The arms-aid measure is due to come up before the House Foreign Affairs Committee this week. The Korean aid bill has been approved by the Foreign Affairs Committee and now is before the Rules Committee. The House leadership expects a Rules Committee go-head for it shortly.

The two bills could be passed by the House in several days next week, along with any other measures that might be added at the last minute to the "must" docket.

The idea of House leaders is that the House can recess from the end of next week until the latter part of September or possibly October 1. It would meet only twice a week with no legislative business to be transacted. It can't quit for more than three week-days at a time unless the Senate does likewise.

While House members are away, the Senate presumably would get rid of the arms-aid bill, the House-passed Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act, along with miscellaneous other House-passed bills.

Republicans, South Democrats Agree

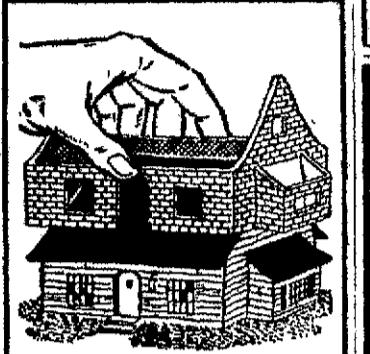

Washington, Aug. 11 (AP)—Congressional reaction to Herbert Hoover's assertion that the U. S. is "on the fast mile" toward the all-powerful state followed the usual economic grooves today.

Republicans and southern Democrats generally held the former president was exactly right when he said in a 75th birthday address in Palo Alto, Calif., last night that "through government spending and taxes our nation is blithely driving down the back road" to collectivism.

Administration Democrats disagreed vigorously.

blind Milwaukee attorney who nominated General MacArthur for the presidency lost a leg yesterday.

Harlan W. Kelley, who suffers from diabetes underwent an operation in which his right leg was amputated above the knee. But he plans to continue his law practice and run for Congress in 1950, he told friends. Kelley gets around with a guide dog.

Kelley, 46, long a leading Republican, suffered complete loss of vision more than a year ago.

His speech at the 1948 National Republican Convention placing the name of MacArthur in nomination won him an ovation.
